Bills Introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 12 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill formerly to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1921, was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 17th November 1926:—

We, the members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill further to amend the Indian Income-tax Act, 1921, have examined the Bill and have the honour to submit this our Report with the Bill as amended by us.

We are of opinion that the Bill should contain provisions for the introduction of a further appellate authority, of an independent nature, for the hearing of appeals from decisions of Appellate Assessment Committees. The limited time at our disposal and the complicated nature of the amendments that would be necessary for this purpose have prevented us from giving effect to our views in the Bill itself, and have necessitated us in moving proposals on the subject, which Government undertake to put forward at the consideration stage.

Clause 19.—The first proviso newly inserted in clause (c) of proposed subsection (2) of section 4 of the Act is aimed at removing any possibility, now that in the case of residents the remittance basis of taxation is abolished for the current year, of both foreign profits which accrued in the previous year and foreign profits which were remitted in the previous year being assessed in the first year after the change.

The alterations made in the second proviso merely clarify the drafting.

Explanation 2 has not been altered, but the Committee records its opinion in connection with this Explanation that the Central Government should approach the Majesty's Government in regard to the Government of India Act, 1935, so as to make provision payable out of Indian revenue chargeable to Indian Income-tax.

Explanation 3, newly inserted by us, has the effect of asking India to repay the dividends paid outside British India in so far as they are paid out of profits subjected to income-tax in British India. It also makes it clear that foreign profits of non-residents can be claimed on such dividends. In the extent to which this Explanation enlarges the taxation imposed under the Bill we recognize that it is not covered by the sanction accorded in the Bill before introduction, and so require sanction before it can be moved in the House.

We have received an assurance that administrative arrangements can and will be made to obviate any hardship that might be caused, in consequence of the change in the normal basis of taxation, in persons provoked by loss in firms in the country where their money may be lying from remitting money to British India as and when they wish.

Clause 20.—The change made in the drafting of clause (a) of proposed section 1A of the Act adopts the wording suggested in the Income-tax Enquiry Report, 1938, which is based on draft clause 5 of the draft Income-tax Bill appended to the report of the United Kingdom Income-tax Consultative Committee presented to Parliament in April 1935. The change in clause (b) of the section merely alters the word "control."

Clause 21.—The addition made in subsection (2) of section 6 of the Act is intended to make possible the establishment of a control or inquiries system under the Central Board of Revenue of special branches for work of special officer or inspectors. The change made in subsection (3) is merely a drafting improvement, while that made in subsection (4) is consequential on the proposed amendment in subsection (2) for the removal of Commissioners of Income-tax whose jurisdiction is not defined by areas. The new subsection (5) asserts a provision retained in the English law explicitly asserting the controlling power of the superior Revenue Authority over its officers.

Clause 22.—Some apprehension was expressed that under section 7 of the Act as now amended, an employee might feel himself obliged to pay income-tax on salary which was not and never would be paid to him. We have removed an ambiguity that administrative action can and will be taken to obviate any such hardship.

Clause 23.—In clause (a) of subsection (2) of section 9 as re-drafted by the Bill, we have removed the words "as at the time of its application by the person," in both places where they occur, and substituted the word "is." The effect is to secure, as the Act does at present, that the allowance is calculated on netter value and not what remains the mortgage or charge arises. The words inserted in the proviso to that clause are inserted to make it clear that the payment of tax referred to is not confined merely to cases in which payment has been made by deduction under section 18. The alteration made in clause (a) of subsection (3) of section 9 of the Act is intended to remove the discretion formerly given to the Income-tax Officer to determine the amount of the allowance to be made in respect of variations.

Clause 20.—The first change in sub-clause (2) improves the wording of clause (2) of sub-section (1) of section 20 of the Act. The verbal changes indicated in the margin contained in sub-clause (2) (b) of the Bill are the same purpose as the similar changes already referred to in clause 9 and to be found also in our revision of clause 12. The other changes indicated in clause 20 (2) (c) of the Bill have the effect of altering the proposals relating to depreciation which were contained in the Bill. Taken along with the second proviso now added to the definition, contained in sub-clause (2) of section 12 of the Act, of the words "written down value" this alteration substitutes for the proposals regarding depreciation contained in the Bill provisions which remove the restriction of depreciation to the amount written off on the books of the company, remove the restriction to six years of the carry forward of depreciation, and provide that depreciation which is unabsorbed at the time when the law is changed shall not be deducted from the original cost of plant, machinery, etc., on arriving at the written down value. The effect of this provision is to spread the writing-off of the unabsorbed depreciation over a longer period. The proposals contained in the Bill limited the amount of depreciation to the amount written off on the books of the company and limited depreciation among other the change of the law, as a loss like other losses, so that it could be carried forward only for six years. Depreciation accumulated at the time of the change of the law was to be carried forward without time limit until it was absorbed but was to be deducted from that in any allowed again, greater before any further allowance for depreciation was to be made for any particular year subsequent to the change of the law.

Government have given us no assurance that the new rates now proposed as the change from the old rates to the written down value will be depressed with the amounts concerned before they are fixed and that the new provisions will not be brought into operation until the rates have been fixed.

The same change made in clause (2) of sub-section (1) of the Act, as amended by clause 12 (b) (iv) of the Bill, makes it clear that allowable losses in a building or money-lending business are to be allowed for. A minor drafting change is also made.

The re-draft of section 22 (2) (iv) of the Act contained in clause 22 (2) (iv) of the Bill substitutes the meaning of the English Act for the meaning adopted in the Indian Act.

The words now inserted in the new sub-section (1) of section 10 of the Act, as substituted by clause 10 (4) of the Bill, provide for the grant of some relief, now that the system of taxation is changed to the normal basis, where double taxation relief is not given in the country where the profits arose or arose. The second change shown in the sub-section is similar to that already referred to in connection with clause 9, and found also in clause 12.

In the new sub-section (2) of section 10 of the Act, in addition to the changes already referred to in the definition of "written down value," we have inserted a reference to whether in the definition of "plant" and we have made a verbal change of the word "allowed" to the word "allowable."

We have also added a proviso, already referred to in our remarks above in clause 10 (2) (b), to ensure that depreciation allowance due for a year prior to the change of the law but unabsorbed shall not be deducted from original cost on arriving at the written down value.

The new sub-section (1) which has been added to section 32 has the effect of including in the Act and placing in a statutory form the provisions relating to the computation of the profits and gains of the company business which were formerly contained in rules made by the Central Board of Revenue under the power conferred by section 23 of the Act.

Clause 12.—The changes made have already been explained in our remarks on clause 9.

Clause 22 (new clause).—This introduces into the Act a new provision for the special case in which managing agency companies are shared among two or more principals and provides a means by which each of the principals may be charged only on the share which he is actually entitled to receive.

Clause 23 (old 17).—We have increased the limit imposed on sums accepted from income-tax by means of payments for his services and contributions to Provident Funds from one thousand rupees to twelve thousand rupees in the case of a Hindu undivided family. The amount change made in this clause is merely a drafting improvement.

Clause 27 (old 20).—We have supplemented clause (5) of the new sub-section (1) of section 35 of the Act by the addition of two definitions, the first explaining the term "receivable" and the second explaining the terms "settlement at disposition" and "settle or dispose."

The change made in sub-section (5) of section 35 of the Act, as amended by sub-section (5) of this clause of the Bill, introduces into clause (1) of sub-section (5) of section 35 of the Act the words "otherwise than for adequate consideration" which are already to be found in clause (5) (18) of that sub-section and had previously been omitted by oversight.

Clause 28 (old 17).—We have carried from section 17 of the Act the first sub-section which had the effect of leaving the individual liability of each of the several persons on the continued income of both.

The reference to Burma introduced in sub-section (1) of section 17 of the Act is made for the purpose of according to States in Burma the same treatment as is accorded by the Burmese law to States in India.

The words inserted in sub-section (2) of section 17 of the Act are necessary, because an unincorporated firm may under section 21 (2) of the Act be treated as a registered firm vis-à-vis the present sub-section is not intended to apply where an unincorporated firm is concerned.

Clause 29 (old 20).—In sub-section (1) of section 22 of the Act we have altered the wording so as to require the notice under that subsection to be published both in the press and also in the prescribed manner instead of allowing publication in either manner.

It has been made clear in the first notwithstanding each publication of notice Government cannot take action, third in which he need not all persons believed to have incurred liability in connection.

Clause 31 (old 22).—The proviso of the notice introduced by sub-section (1) of section 22 of the Act has the effect of securing that a specific notice under sub-section (1) of section 22 must be served on the persons before an assessment under sub-section (4) of section 23 can be made.

Clause 32 (old 21).—In the proposed new sub-section (2) of section 23a of the Act the first change indicated by asterisks and by the insertion of the words "by any company" has the effect of extending the scope of the section to all companies and not merely to companies which are under the control of not more than five persons. We have restored the words "with the previous approval of the Managing Director or Commissioner" which, though already in the Act, were omitted in the redraft of the sub-section proposed in the Bill. The change made in the proviso covers cases where the accumulated undistributed profits exceed the value of the fixed assets on the paid up capital taken with loss capital belonging to shareholders, whichever is greater. It has been added as additional proviso in order to make allowance for possible cases of error in which the full sixty per cent of the non-cumulative income of the company has not been actually distributed, an amount exceeding fifty-two per cent has been distributed. In such cases we consider that the company should be given a reasonable opportunity of securing the payment of the section by reversing its distribution within three months. The reversal of the reference to subsidiary companies implements the first change made to the section and secures the application of the section to all companies except companies in which the public are substantially interested in the sense defined in the Companies Act. The deletion of clause (a), (7) and (4) in the Companies Act is consequential on the change made in the main part of the subsection.

Clause 20 old 21.—In subsection (2) of section 24 of the Act as amended by this clause, the words now inserted signify an omission. The subsection as drafted in the Bill failed to render responsible chart itself open, been sustained every year before the present change in the law.

Clause 21 old 22.—The omission made in subsection (2) of section 24B of the Act enables that the executor, administrator or other legal representative can only be removed after he has been served with a specific notice under subsection (4) of section 22.

Clause 22 old 23.—The words added to the proviso to subsection (6) of section 25 of the Act give an explicit right to the person by whom the property is held to transfer it and to remove any amount so paid from that other person.

Clause 23 of the Bill as introduced.—The omission of the clause has the effect of restoring section 27 of the Act. We consider that the deletion of section 27 though coupled with the grant of the right of appeal against appointments under section 75 (1) of the Act made the position of the law worse than it was under the existing law.

Clause 24.—In the proposed new subsection (2) of section 26 of the Act we have amended that accidental failure to furnish the returns required is still not to be visited with penalty; and by our change in the proviso to the subsection we have restricted the penalty for failure to comply with the general notice under subsection (2) of section 26 of the Act to persons whose default is not less than three thousand five hundred pounds, and we have reduced to a maximum of twenty-five pounds the penalty for failure to comply with the notice under section 26 (3) of the Act where the person failing to comply so has no income liable to tax. We have modified clause (4) of the proviso contained in the Bill as introduced in the belief that it is unnecessary.

Clause 25.—The first two changes indicated in sub-clause (a) of the clause and the change in sub-clause (b) restore references to section 97 of the Act. These have again become necessary since we have decided to retain that section due to an error in clause 21 of the Bill as introduced. The change made in sub-clause (b) (i) (now (ii)) of clause 24 has the effect of restoring in subsection (2) of section 26 of the Act the original provision contained by the Bill, which provided that no appeal shall be in respect of an appointment made under subsection (1) of section 26 as under that subsection read with section 27. A mistake and in one place in clause 25 and a reference in section 47E has been introduced in each case consequentially upon the insertion of new sections in the Act.

Clause 26.—The change made has the effect of restoring to the Act reference to section 31 which was deleted in consequence of the proposed omission of that section.

Clause 27.—The proposals contained in the Bill adopted the period of six years exclusively in the limit for the raising of loans under section 26, for the purpose of raising money which had escaped assessment for the difference of the period under section 26. We have decided to retain six years as the limit for the carrying forward of losses under section 24, but we think that in all the other cases the limit should be a period of four years except that in the case of the debt should be where income has escaped assessment in consequence of the income having obtained the protection of the income or deliberately furnished inaccurate particulars of his income. The change made in the clause and so clause (5) goes effect to the decision.

The change of the expression "is of opinion" to "disposes" in subsection (2) of the clause brings the wording of sub-section (2) of section 24 into accord with the wording of the corresponding English provision. A minority of no fewer than three is to be inserted in the sub-section.

Clause 22.—In the new clause (2) of sub-section (2) of section 24 proposed by the Bill we have substituted for the vague expression "as the fit" the definite expression "by way of brokerage, or any manner not being an ordinary manner under the head 'Salaries'." The situation so described are mainly those paid by the majority as to be reduce the power which the Bill proposed to give to Income-tax Officers and Inspectors. The sole power of entry are taken away, written authorisation. A minority of no less than three is to be inserted in the clause which it now takes.

Clause 23.—No change has been made in this clause, but in subsection with section 22 and section 24 of the Act we considered certain difficulties which arise in the application of the agency principle to "broking and stockholding" operations when some operators take place through a person entering on a lease for business as broker in British India and a person having acting for an unincorporated foreign principal. My first draft clause proposed should be inserted in the Act to state that the British Income Tax shall not be such a case as not disposed has proceeded to from taking specific provision to the end in the Bill, but we understand that Government will bring forward proposals on the subject in the consideration stage.

Clause 24.—The addition made in section 24 of the Act is intended to ensure that all provisions covered by Chapter IV shall be available in an income earned under this section.

Clause 25.—We have revised proposed section 44D and we have added two new sections in that which the clause proposed to insert in the Act.

The changes made in section 44D remove certain defects in the provisions relating to cesses of tax by transfer of assets. Transfer to persons resident in but not domiciled in British India are now covered, and by sub-section (2) persons by transfer resulting in payment of cesses disposed in the form of loans, or payments made without adequate consideration, is provided for. By subsection (3) it is provided that a transfer must be motivated by any purpose of avoidance in order to escape the operation of the clause, and the addition of a new clause in sub-section (7) clarifies the position of companies incorporated outside but resident in British India.

The new sections 44E and 44F are designed to prevent avoidance of tax by what are known as "head-washing" transactions, involving the manipulation of ownership of some asset person who is either not liable at all or liable to a lesser degree in tax, under such conditions that the interest on the person is the focus of this asset person. A common form of the person is the role of securities own interest with a shareholders contract to repurchase them re-invested. Where foreign securities are concerned this asset person may be a foreigner interest. More often a financial concern in India is involved whose the owners are resident in tax avoidance, as "head-washing" facilities to the owner of securities holding fixed interest, while the person himself is not liable to taxation on the realization of the securities.

Clause 26.—The new sub-section (2) inserted in section 45 is inserted by this clause inserts the provisions of section 45(2) which were in force at the time when the present provision section 45 was substituted for the whole of sections 44 and 45A. It transfers the power of the Assistant Commissioner and of the Commissioner to order refusal to be made.

The change made in sub-section (2) of section 43 is a deleting improvement.

Clause 55.—We have removed the two new sub-sections which were inserted in section 44 of the Act by the 1886, and have renumbered their contents in new sections 426 and 427 dash with in clause 54 of the Bill.

A majority of us desired to omit section 49 from the Act, and request that the Governor General's sanction to the passing of an amendment to this end, if held to be necessary, may be obtained.

Clause 56 (new clause).—The new section 426 introduced by this clause provides for the possibility of the grant of relief for double investments payments in certain cases in which section 43 does not apply, between 423 and 425 inclusive is a new appropriation clause and form the provisions contained in sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 42 of the Act as it was acted by the 1886.

Clause 55 (old 25) and 56 (old 51).—The changes made are consequential on the insertion of the new sections now numbered 426, 428 and 427.

Clause 57 (old 56).—The change of "six years" to "four years" is in accordance with the decision to which reference is made in our remarks on clause 35.

Clause 58 (old 57).—The alteration has the effect of removing the possibly alternative grounds on failure to comply with the general notice issued under sub-section (2) of section 22 of the Act.

Clause 59 (old 58).—We have omitted the second sub-section of this clause, thereby removing from section 22 of the Act the words "without prejudice to any other penalty to which he may be liable under the Indian Penal Code", which the Bill proposed to insert.

Clause 60 (old 59).—The change made has the effect of removing from section 23(1) of the Act the reference to day of proceedings, and at the same time, while leaving to the Assistant Commissioner the power to compound offences committed by the leave of the Court in any composition made after an offence has been before the Court.

Clause 61 (old 60).—The alterations made in the clause bring the effect of converting the three provisions in sub-section (2) of section 34 of the Act into separate sub-sections, a form which are available more appropriate in view of their contents. We have also added further matters in the list of those exempted from the ban on discharges. These matters are contained in the new clause 42, dealing with acts in Civil Courts, clause 43, dealing with such officers, clause 44, and clause 45 which makes specific provision allowing the details necessary for establishing that a person is qualified to be an officer, to be decided by a Returning Officer.

Clause 62 (new clause).—This new clause removes from the Act sub-section (2) of section 350 which gives power to the Central Government to refuse recognition to an individual recognition from a government fund.

Clause 72 (old 71).—The alteration of the clause has the effect, first, of substituting the words "the appropriate relief" in sub-section (2) of section 80 of the Act, for the expression "such relief as it may seem fit to grant" which to consider is widely wide, and, secondly, of substituting for the former clause the power to make any exemptions, variations or modifications under sub-section (3). It is necessary to keep sub-section (3) as it is, because the power to make any exemptions, variations or modifications under sub-section (3) is the intention of the Government, in connection with the present scheme contained in the Bill and consequently with 22 and 73 is, the last set forth in paragraph 17 of Part III of the Memorandum.

Clause 74 (old 75)—We have substituted a more accurate revised definition of "accountant". We have also revised subsection (2) of section 41 of the Act, as amended by the 1913, so as to remove from the Commissioner of Income Tax the power to decide whether a lawyer or an accountant has been guilty of misconduct in connection with insolvency proceedings. We consider that the authorities exclusively responsible for disciplinary action in the two professions concerned should deal with such matters as with other questions of discipline in those professions.

Clause 75 (old 76)—We have somewhat altered the language of the first proviso which the clause adds to subsection (2) of section 41 of the Act, by providing that an assessor shall be relieved from raising the question of the place of assessment only when he is invited to the present place of business in a private trade, and by extending the time within which the question can be raised in other cases to the end of the time allowed for a return after a special notice under section 230) or 24.

Clause 76 (new)—The clause adds to the Act the Schedule necessary to implement the decision announced in our remarks on clause 20 in connection with section 100) of the Act.

To the extent to which the changes made by us in section 16 of the Act by our enlargement of the meaning of the terms "acquisition or disposition" and "seller or disposer" in section 235 of the Act by our extension of the scope of the section to other companies than those controlled by not more than five persons, in section 24 of the Act by our extension of the time over which income which has escaped assessment may be assessed to twelve years for eight years, and in its extent to which the new sections 44E and 44F enable in the former otherwise not liable, we recognize that the sanction given to the provisions of the Bill may require to be supplemented by special sections for those new provisions. We report that such sections, if and to be necessary, and the sections referred to in our remarks on clause 4, may be obtained.

3. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 6th April 1936.

4. We think that the Bill has not here to altered so to require re-consideration.

MINUTES OF DISSENT.

We generally agree with the provisions of the Bill as it emerges from the Select Committee, except on a few points on which we reserve our right to vote in dissent. We stated before the Committee that we were not in favour of the Bill as it stood under the Mohammedan Law and should have been amended.

We regret to say that we could not persuade other members of the Committee to agree to our suggestion.

MOHD. YAMIN KHAN.
S. A. S. H. ESWAR.

We have not been able to agree with the amendments marked by the Select Committee on the following clauses:—

- Clauses 4 (section 4),
- Clauses 8 (New sections 4A and 4B),
- Clauses 17 (Old Clause 1A—section 30),
- Clauses 24 (Old Clause 20—section 22),
- Clauses 25 (Old Clause 23—section 24),
- Clauses 31 (Old Clause 30—section 20),
- Clauses 32 (section 20),
- Clauses 33 (section 24),
- Clauses 34 (section 26),
- Clauses 35 (section 46),
- Clauses 34 (New clause).

We are further of opinion that there are certain sections in which the Act is capable of further amendment and simplification.

The first point in this connection is that as a ground of the Act and the Bill, we find that in some cases the underlying principle of a large number of sections and provisions dispersed in the Act is one and the same, but each principle is nowhere concentrated in its full form in the Act. If we incorporate such principles in specific provisions—as we proposed a done so in connection with the other provisions—it would very much simplify and render easily intelligible many of the provisions of the Act. For example, a section incorporating the principle "No income of a person shall be liable to be taxed more than his share" will be easily understood, and simplify many of the provisions of the Act, and will remove certain doubts arising from the interpretation of some sections of the Act.

The second point that we have to mention is in respect of the adoption of the "dash" system. This change in the system of assessment is one of the fundamental changes contemplated by the Bill, but nowhere it has been directly recognized in the provisions of the Bill. Only the calculations contained in some clauses (e.g., subsection (2) of section 20) contain certain words which make a construction of the meaning of a system different from the present one. It is our view that it is too far stretched and inefficient, and the new system should be specifically declared in the Act.

The last suggestion that we have to make is regarding the method of calculation of incomes. This is to be found embodied in different sections and clauses of the Bill, dealing with the matter piecemeal, in a haphazard manner and even so, it is spread and covering off in the cases dealt with by the Act itself. This is likely to create confusion and should be given at one place with the necessary details. This would very much simplify the provisions dealing with calculation of incomes, and it will render them easily accessible.

We shall now submit amendments in accordance with our views on the Bill as follows for consideration of the House:

SHULARNATH J. DESAI
S. SATYANATH
MUTAHMAD AHMED KAREEM
B. K. TAJMAL
K. K. MALAVITA.

I now submit the following clauses of the Bill, namely:—

- (1) The principle underlying clauses 4 and 5 of the Bill, which amend section 4 of the Act.
- (2) Clause 17 (a) and (i) of the Bill which amends section 16 of the Act.
- (3) Clause 24 of the Bill which amends section 20A of the Act.
- (4) Clause 25 of the Bill which amends section 20 of the Act.
- (5) Clause 30 of the Bill which amends section 24 of the Act.
- (6) Clause 31 of the Bill which amends section 20 of the Act.
- (7) Clause 32 of the Bill which amends section 26 of the Act.

I would like to draw the attention to the fact that provisions relating to Poor-law Fund should be extended to Superannuated Fund as well. Although, unfortunately, this subject was not actually discussed in the Select Committee, it was considered by members of the Select Committee. I will therefore move an amendment in the House to give effect to the above provisions.

I also move to repeal the right to move or support all amendments to the Bill which are in agreement with my view.

CONRAD JELLSGER.

In addition to what has been said in the joint minutes of dissent signed by me I wish to make the following observations:—

I do not agree to the conclusions arrived at in the Select Committee, particularly in respect of the following classes for whom inadequate provision, and I desire to speak and in my party the right to move suitable amendments in the open House.

- Class 4 (Section 4).
- Class 5 (New Sections 4A and 4B).
- Class 23 (Section 23).
- Class 42 (Section 42).
- Class 50 (Section 40).
- Class 52 (Section 49).
- Class 71 (Section 60 (3)).

One and one idea arose from the beginning to the end, points in the Bill. The desire of the Honorable Finance Minister to make as much revenue as possible and to make it impossible for any future, whatever in any way, to escape the payment of the Income-tax law, is well known in every word and line of the Bill. Extreme cases of hardship have been imposed and actions to prevent these have been driven up. Discharge has been proposed and made persons have been given to the executive for the sake of a few tax-payers without any loss of the revenue being lost or recoverable. Privileges have been given to the United Kingdom, and really good provisions of the English law have been ignored.

Any income-tax law, according to my way of thinking, must see that the poorest persons sufficient money for the needs of the wife, children and dependants. English law gives personal allowances which are deducted before the income tax is paid. One-third of the income not exceeding £600 is not taxable. Over and above this, there are the married wife's allowance of £200, single person's allowance of £100, each child's allowance of £50 and in addition to these, there is the deduction in respect of dependent relatives. These personal allowances mitigate the incidence of taxation on United Kingdom, drive out the poverty from the door, help in making the standard of living and provide better maintenance and education for the children, but so such provisions exist in the proposed Income-tax Law, which are meant for a country where poverty is grinding, where a single wage-earner has to support a large family and a large number of dependants and where it is impossible for a middle class man to give better education to his three or four children.

I maintain that personal allowances, on even a minor scale, should be the law of the land. One-fifth of the total income from all sources of the income from business, professions, various and various, etc., but not exceeding £1,500, should not be taxable. An allowance for the maintenance of each child to the rate of at least say £50 per annum should be provided for, and some allowance should also be granted for the maintenance of the wife and the dependants. Unless some such law is passed, the evil of hunger, poverty, malnutrition, the low standard of living and the unimproved and our total resources will be almost bankrupt at our doors. The fact, as it is drawn up, takes no account at the needs of the taxpayer or of the question whether any objection will be left for members to show enterprise in foreign. "Business enterprise," "business sense, enterprise," "business sense" seems to be the motto of the meeting [20].

A fundamental change has been introduced in regard to the treatment of foreign income. The change from the prohibition to actual laws has been universally welcomed, but the Government is adamant. Our pioneer traders, who are trading in foreign countries, did not get any encouragement from the Government of India; they do not get any protection even from the Government; the Indian merchants have passed their way through a sea of tremendous odds and are maintaining their own. I am told they are even meeting Japanese trade and are introducing Indian and cloth clothing, foreign agents and new business and are selling Indian and old and introducing Japanese cheap labour but the Government, when asked give any encouragement or protection to our nationals in their trading enterprises, is now anxious to tax their income as foreign income in India. In the English law, income from foreign countries is prohibited, shares and bonds are taxed on residence basis and business is not entirely controlled from United Kingdom and is entirely carried on outside United Kingdom is also treated as foreign income (over 100,000,000 in India). Income from shares, bonds and stocks is only taxed on normal basis. The Government now agrees the fact that our nationals who are trading abroad in foreign countries, should be treated as normal traders. The Government is now in a position to treat our nationals who are trading abroad as normal traders. The Government has been prevented from doing this by the proposed change. I, therefore, stand for the deletion of clause 4 altogether, feeling that, I would add to the proposed alterations (1) (1) (1) after the words "such year" the words "from whatever source except business, profession or vocation."

I am for taxing the foreign income from business, professions and vocations on residence basis only. It is wrong to assume that the Indian capital will be driven out of the country if foreign income is not taxed. Our citizens should be to provide enterprise in our country who are trading abroad. British companies, United States foreign trade, railways are encouraged to come to such profits as they can and bring that into the country and add to the national income in order to put the foreign trade of a Government and leading its development.

Clause 4, Section 4.—With regard to the basis of assessment introduced by the amending Bill under clause 4, I am opposed to the proposed normal basis, particularly as regards income arising exclusively in foreign countries. I do not see any justification for the Government of India to seek to assess the income of our nationals who are trading abroad, and that they have not been offering any protection to them in their enterprise. The Government of the United Kingdom has been offering the income arising abroad from business income in foreign countries, but the Government of India has been no justification to assess such income when they are Government of India has made the diplomatic day ordinary trade to offer through British diplomatic or consular services which they provide next in case of emergency. The plan put forward by the Finance Member that the clause does not restrict the right of income arising abroad and of investments in foreign countries. The Indian Capital was not supplied with any agents as to the extent of Indian capital invested in foreign countries. I am, as I have trading activities of our own people who have gone out of the country in a spirit of adventure as the past and who are trying to develop India's trade with foreign countries by creating direct connections through Indian agencies. The Indian capital needed even at the beginning of such trading concerns is comparatively small as a nucleus of such concerns, instead of depending upon the supply of capital from India, utilise their profits earned locally to develop their own trade abroad. We do, therefore, stand in line very little at the risk of success from business outside British India as limited differently from that of investment abroad.

The profits arising out of such operations should be assessed on a percentage basis, as whatever surplus profits they make in this country should be levied after allowing their local trade requirements. It should be noted that the Finance Act of the United Kingdom, prior to the Great War, in 1918 was based on this principle of remittance in respect of their incomes arising out of their trading activities in foreign countries. Even under the present Finance Act, foreign income of British companies, firms or individuals, which are not controlled in India is not taxed as so-called bonus but is only taxed when received in the United Kingdom. I am, therefore, opposed to clause 4 as framed upon by the Select Committee.

The levying of the old Indian Income-tax Law warranted the taxing of all incomes deriving in India, but the Government of India, by their policy interpretation of the law, changed the law completely and the result was that all incomes deriving in India but sent abroad were exempted from the Indian Income-tax. This was done in the interests of the taxpayers, residents, non-residents, domestic or non-domestic in India, and in the interest of foreign companies trading in India. Under the operation of this interpretation, all incomes from sterling securities of the Government of India and from sterling securities of companies trading in India become exempt from the operation of our Income-tax Law.

The Government say, in order to provide more strings to their policy, are anxious to see the income of our Indian traders abroad whether controlled or not received in this country. This, I declare, will cripple our foreign trade and leave us incentive in our power lenders to go out and earn income abroad.

We have also made no differentiation between an export and an unexported income. Almost all, if not all, the countries whose income tax law prevails, recognise some such differentiation. Most of the countries, even in the British Commonwealth of Nations, pay income tax on the principle of differentiation. It is our exceeding folly, so such differentiation has been made. The Government are not also taken into account the revenue depression and the changing income of the foreign people. Algeria and Russia are suffering instances. The lot of foreign-trading in Burma today, especially those who have been involved with unexported large areas of agricultural land, is not enviable.

In view of financial conditions prevailing in Burma, and the fact that Burma has been suddenly heavily stricken from India, perhaps, only a year ago, I would urge that some provision should be made for not taxing agricultural income of Indian traders in Burma on current basis, when it has already paid a tax there and when Indian traders a period of 12 years is spent their investments. The price of agricultural land has already gone down and the knowledge that the Indian traders have to get rid of agricultural land in Burma at any cost, will not help our nationals in realising even 50 per cent of their investments.

Clause 2, New Sections 44 and 45. I am not satisfied with the decision of the Select Committee to delete the word "Control" from the definition of the meaning of a firm or a company, and I would very much prefer to have the definition suggested by the Commission Committee to be interpreted into our Act to define the meaning of a company, firm or other association of persons. I am not sure whether allowing companies incorporated in the United Kingdom and having substantial portions of their operations and management carried on in India could be treated as resident companies for purposes of this Act. My whole concern is suggesting that the Confédération Committee's draft clause should be accepted) is that respective Incorporated and sole-proprietorship Indian firms among their private set of their operations which are substantially covered, as in British India should be treated as resident companies for all purposes of the Act, and I do not see what objection the Government should have to the acceptance of the Confédération Committee's draft clause in preference to the deletion of the word "Control" from the proposed clause in the Bill.

Clause 22: Section 22: I am opposed to the new proposed subsection (1) of section 22 whereby the Income-tax Officer may either refuse to register a firm or may cancel its registration, if it is already registered under certain circumstances.

Clause 23: Section 23: The suggestion which the Select Committee made in respect of clause 22 does not improve the clause materially, and I am opposed to the insertion of new subsection (2) to section 23. Such power of entering the premises, calling for and inspecting and disposing records of a person does not exist in the U.K. law; and I do not see any justification for the Government to enact to the inclusion of such a harassing section in the Act.

Clause 24: Section 24: I am opposed to the use of imprisonment in the process of enforcing arrears of Income-tax and though the Government Member argued on that only a very few persons have been arrested during all these years for default in payment of Income-tax, I am strongly opposed to the provision mentioned in the process in subsection (1) of section 24 as a principle. Property might be attached, not to section, but the case should never be arrested and put in jail.

Clause 25: Section 25: I am of opinion that the Government should be approached to give permission to give an amendment in this open House for the deletion of section 25 of the Act which has been passing to the principle of the Indian treasury and which is responsible for the loss of more than a crore of rupees to the country. I am strongly opposed to the retention of this section on the statute book.

Clause 27: Section 27 (1): I accept the agreement reached in the Select Committee on this section provided the Finance Member declines to refuse his consent and promise of withdrawing the amendments in respect of items III, IV, V and VI, which relate to allowances or salaries paid either into the United Kingdom or Colonies to Government Officers on leave or on duty, leave salaries or allowances paid into the United Kingdom or Colonies to officers of local establishments or to the employees of companies or of private employees on leave and vacation salaries paid into the United Kingdom or Colonies to Judges of High Courts or Chief Courts, etc., when on vacation.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 10th November 1928:—

S. A. BILL No. 26 OF 1928.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925.

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Indian Merchant Shipping (Amendment) Act, 1928. Short title.

2. In section 82 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925, sub-section (7) shall be re-enacted as sub-section (5) and the following shall be inserted as sub-section (6), namely:— Amendment of section 82, Act, 1925.

"(6) The provisions of clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (3) shall not apply to so much of the wages of a seaman as have been or are hereafter assigned by way of contribution to any fund approved in this behalf by the Central Government, the main purpose of which is the provision of benefits for seamen as aforesaid; and the provisions of clauses (a) and (d) of sub-section (3) shall not apply to anything done or to be done for giving effect to such an assignment."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Saldia Steam Navigation Company, Limited, have recently introduced a Provident Fund scheme for the benefit of their ship staff. Under the Fund it is to be financed partly by contributions payable by all eligible members of the staff by deduction at a fixed percentage (24 per cent) from their monthly wages and partly by a contribution by the employers of an amount equal to the annual aggregate contributions of all the members. In pursuance of this scheme, the Saldia Steam Navigation Company have proposed the insertion in the Articles of Agreement of the staff of a clause to provide for the necessary deduction to be made from their wages, which in the case of an agreement with a "seaman" as defined in section 2(2) (c) of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925 (XXXI of 1925), replaces the sanction of the Central Government under section 25 (4) of that Act.

5. The British Indian Maritime Board have also recently brought into operation a contributory provident scheme for officers in the Merchant Navy which is to be financed similarly by contributions equal to a prescribed percentage (7½ per cent) of the officers' salaries, so much amount being payable by their employers. As the officers' contributions are to be deducted from their salaries, the British Indian Maritime Navigation Company, Limited, have also requested sanction to the inclusion of an additional stipulation similar to the one proposed by the Saldia Steam Navigation Company in all Articles of Agreement with seamen engaged by them.

3. Section 82 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925, however, provides inter alia that an assignment of his wages before they accrue, made by a seaman shall not be binding upon him, and unless the action is satisfied wholly out of the wages of a seaman or Provident Fund will not be in accordance with the law. The Central Government cannot remove the invalidity attaching to the inclusion of the proposed clause in the Articles of Agreement. A provision similar to that in section 82 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925, was inserted in section 103 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (55 & 56 Vict., c. 60), which was amended but not by an Act of Parliament [The Merchant Shipping (Superannuation Contributions)

Act, 1927] to liquidate the payment of contributions by workers and of their wages to the Merchant Navy Officers' Pension Fund and various other specified Funds. It is accordingly proposed to amend section 42 of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1925, to the effect of the amendments made in the Merchant Shipping Act, 1924, and the present Bill introduced to give effect to this proposal.
